MEPs joint declaration condemns Turkish military intervention in Syria

Sixty MEPs condemn Turkish military intervention in Syria

Sixty MEPs from different political groups in the European Parliament – including Greens/EFA - have come together to co-sign a political declaration that condemns Turkey's military intervention in Syria.

They call upon the EU to impose sanctions against Turkey and to tackle the humanitarian crisis in Rojava.

The declaration is copied below along with the list of signatories.

POLITICAL DECLARATION FOLLOWING THE INVASION OF THE ROJAVA REGION IN NORTH SYRIA BY 60 MEPS:

After hearing about the Turkish military attack this day against the Syrian Democratic Forces in Rojava, the undersigned MEPs:

- firmly condemn this assault and the Turkish leaders that commanded it, particularly Recep Erdogan;

- recall that the European Union collaborated with the SDF against Daesh, and that we are part of the same military coalition against it;

- denounce the diplomatic attitude of the US Trump administration, that abandons their allies and favours the attack by the Turkish army;

- ask the European Parliament, the European Commission and the European Council to quickly and firmly condemn Recep Erdogan's attack;

- ask the European Union to impose heavy economic and diplomatic sanctions against Turkey;

- ask the EU to take all necessary actions to tackle the humanitarian crisis in Rojava;

- ask that everything be done to stop the attack of the Turkish army.
