PFAS scandal in Croatia

EU should phase out PFAS poison

~~PFAS (per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances) are a group of chemicals that are used in a wide range of products, including food packaging, textiles, and electronics. They are known to be persistent in the environment and can have harmful effects on human health. The European Union (EU) has taken steps to restrict the use of PFAS, but more action is needed to phase them out completely. The Croatian government has expressed its support for the EU's efforts and has called for stronger measures to be taken to protect the environment and public health.~~
