KEYNOTE SPEAKER

RAJAGOPAL PV

Rajagopal PV, the son of a Gandhian worker, studied agriculture at Seva Gram in Wardha. In the early 70s he worked in the violence-ridden area of Chambal (Madhya Pradesh) helping to rehabilitate dacoits. In the years that followed, Rajagopal travelled to several tribal areas and developed an understanding of the plight and needs of India's tribal people, which became his lifetime mission. Several training organizations were set up across Madhya Pradesh, Bihar and Orissa, which ultimately led to the creation of Ekta Parishad (Unity Forum in Hindi) in 1991. The organization's focus is on working towards building community-based governance, local self-reliance and responsible government, with the aim of allowing India's poorest people to gain control over livelihood resources, especially land, water and forest.

After consolidating a membership of 200,000 people (with a majority of women) across 6 States, Rajagopal began using the Gandhian technique of the foot march to galvanize greater support among the poor. With a track record of 10 state level foot marches, he led a national march to Delhi in October 2007, in which 25,000 people marched 340 kilometers from Gwalior to Delhi and compelled the Government to take action on land reform and forest rights. Implementation was however slow, and a second march, this time over twice as big, was therefore organised in October 2012, leading to the signing of a 10 points agreement on 11th October 2012 between the Government of India and Jansatyagraha in Agra.

Following these successes, Ekta Parishad is now planning a new great march under the name "Jai Jagat 2020" ("Glory to the World" in Hindi), with the intention of surpassing all of Ekta Parishad's previous actions in scale and to challenge people's imaginations at the global level. The gigantic march would leave Delhi in 2020 and go on for fifteen months before reaching Geneva (8,000 km on foot), so as to directly engage the United Nations as well as the other international organisations concerning the necessity of another development model, which does not destroy the environment and deprive small farmers of their principal resources in the name of growth. In so doing, the march intends to represent all those excluded by globalisation. Rajagopal has now already been campaigning for two years, travelling the globe to promote this gigantic march, never before attempted in History.

MODERATION AND VISUAL FACILITATION

MODERATION - STIOFÁN NUTTY

Stiofán will guide us through the event and make sure time and principles are kept!

Graduated from Trinity College Dublin with business degree. By 1998 he began to develop both a management consultancy business and a broadcasting career. In 2003 he became the Irish Green Party's first General Secretary. Stiofán chaired the Green Party's "Reference Group" that negotiated the 2007 Programme for Government and the "Renewed Programme for Government" in 2009. In 2011 he re-launched and broadened his consultancy to general business and the political world. He is a Mediators' Institute of Ireland (MII) Certified Mediator and handles Public Relations for the MII. Stiofán is Director of Educational Services for Green Foundation Ireland. Stiofán is a Local Enterprise Office business mentor since 2013 and in 2015, he was appointed as Coordinator of the Horticulture Industry Forum in Ireland.

Over the past 4 years Stiofán has facilitated and moderated national and European events across Ireland and in Brussels.

VISUAL FACILITATION - LARA LISTENS

Lara Listens will take visual notes during the European Ideas Lab. She combines visual thinking with profound knowledge of learning, participation and organizational development.

She works as a visual facilitator. This means that she helps organizations – and the people within – to have conversations that matter. Together, we approach difficult questions and complex situations with ease, structure and intention.

Ease, fun and color are important ingredients of her work – and life. Raised in the capital of Europe, she now lives in Heidelberg, Germany.

8. AUDREY SPEYER

WEB: www.mamaterialfutures.tumblr.com/Audrey-Speyer

I am investigating a natural treatment that can reverse the state of a land contaminated by most toxic human-made substances. In spite of numerous scientific reports about successful bioremediations, there are not a lot of applications to clean private and industrial land.

Through the incubator I designed, my aim is to bring the biosystem onto the land and the market. Half buried, this object can be applied to many different kinds of polluted territories to spread this clean technology. I have exhibited my project in Paris (Le Festival du vivant), London, Milan (Salone del Mobile), Venice and I went to Canada to learn from a wellknown scientific. I am now working on an experimental remediation site to realise my first test in collaboration with a laboratory. For now, I am fully engaged in this project and I am looking for members specialised in Science.

9. TOESTAND

WEB: www.toestand.be

Represented by Pepijn Kennis

Toestand is an organisation which focuses on the socio-cultural reactivation of vacant spaces in the city. Free (as in free speech, but also as in free coffee) space is scarce, especially in the city. On the other hand, many sites and buildings are abandoned for reasons such as speculation or government administration issues. Toestand reconciles these two issues by communicating on the issue, facilitating the installation of temporary socio-cultural centres, and organising them ourselves under the term 'Spontaneous Action Zones'.

Pepijn Kennis has a track record of volunteer and professional work in the Brussels' and Flemish youth work sector. He studied Urban Studies and thus makes the link between the urban development issues related to vacancies on one hand, and the specific needs and methodologies of youth work on the other. He coordinates the organisation Toestand.

10. PARCKFARM

www.parckfarm.be

Represented by Gabriele Annicchiarico

ParckFarm is a local association in the north of Brussels. We support ecological practices in a multicultural urban area. The aim of the association is to promote sustainable food and urban agriculture. We organize animations, workshops, guided tours in an "eatable park". We are a "sociable farm" where people of different origins, ages and cultures can share knowledge about eco-production and sustainable lifestyles.

21. PROTEST NETWORK

WEB: protestnamreja.bg

Represented by Radina Ralcheva

Protest Network (Protestna Mreja) is a movement of citizens with no analog I think. It is not formal in any way, it is constructed spontaneously during the big national protests in Bulgaria in 2013 and it is organizing its activities mainly through Facebook and on topical of line and of line meetings. The main purpose of PN is to be a counterpoint of any status quo in the political power and to explore and develop all possible citizen forms of participation in the policy making processes in the country, to put pressure on the institutions and authorities to perform as required, to defend moral grounds, democratic values and human rights and to drive positive change and reforms in the country. We are working with like-minded NGOs, movements, organizations, people. We have managed to turn down Oresharski's government in 2014, to initiate justice reforms debate, to support a national referendum for electronic voting that was successful, etc.

28. BRODOTO

WEB: www.brodoto.com

Represented by Marco Gregovic and Kristina Lauš

Social impact agency Brodoto and NGO Baš brodo are aiming to empower civic society in Croatia in terms of visibility, sustainability and networking. The first one provides various marketing services to nonprofit organisations and civic initiatives and works only for for-good causes. The second one organises different events through which the same goals are pursued. For example, this December NGO Baš brodo organised a creative marathon Give A Hack, which connected NGO representatives with experts from the creative industry over the course of one weekend with an aim to create promotional campaigns for different social causes proposed by the participating NGO's.

Both of these organisations are active in the field of crowdfunding in Croatia, in which we provide education and production of crowdfunding campaigns. Together with UNDP Croatia, we founded the Crowdfunding Academy initiative, through which we helped raising more than $200,000 for different social causes.

36. EUROPEAN ENVIRONMENTAL BUREAU

WEB: www.eeb.org

Represented by Piotr Barczac, Carsten Wachholz, Eva Izquierdo

We work to promote environmental issues on a European and global level and represent the demands of European citizens. The EEB, set up in 1974, is Europe's largest coalition of grassroots environmental organisations. What makes us stand out is our expert insight on a vast amount of environmental issues; ranging from biodiversity, to waste, nanotechnology, chemicals, ecolabel, and climate change and many others.

Launched in January 2015, the SUPPLY CHA!NGE project brings together 29 civil society organizations from across Europe, as well as partners from the Global South. In a collaborative EU-wide effort, we are striving to find solutions to the growing challenge of reducing environmental impacts and improving working conditions along the global supply chains of store brand (also known as 'own brand' or 'private label') food products in European supermarkets.

37. WEMOVE.EU

Represented by Oliver Moldenhauer & Virginia Lopez Caldo

WeMove.EU is a citizens' movement, campaigning for a better Europe; for a European Union committed to social and economic justice, environmental sustainability and citizen-led democracy. We are people from all walks of life, who call Europe our home – whether we were born in Europe or elsewhere.

While online campaigning organizations and NGOs that succeed in online campaigning exist on the global or national level, the power of online organizing is underutilized on a European level.

We come together at critical moments to take action to effect political change on an EU level, to build a more citizen-centered Europe. We target those who can deliver change – be it in European institutions, member states or corporations.

We use online tools to lower the barrier to participating in European democracy, so all Europeans have a voice in this political process; a process where big money, corporate lobbyists and national-minded politicians in powerful countries wield too much power. Our model of online organizing allows us to rapidly combine the effort of thousands of us into a powerful collective force. We harness this online participation to facilitate grassroots action – online and offline.

38. SLOW FOOD

WEB: www.slowfood.com

Represented by Marta Messa

Slow Food is a global, grassroots organization, founded in 1989 to prevent the disappearance of local food cultures and traditions, counteract the rise of fast life and combat people's dwindling interest in the food they eat, where it comes from and how our food choices affect the world around us. Since its beginnings, Slow Food has grown into a global movement involving millions of people in over 160 countries, working to ensure everyone has access to good, clean and fair food.

Slow Food believes food is tied to many other aspects of life, including culture, politics, agriculture and the environment. Through our food choices we can collectively influence how food is cultivated, produced and distributed, and as a result bring about great change.

Marta is the director of the Brussels office of Slow Food.

44. END ECOCIDE

WEB: www.endecocide.org

Represented by Maria Peytcheva

End Ecocide on Earth is a grass-roots citizens movement focused on the recognition and addition of the crime of ecocide to international criminal law as the fifth crime prosecutable before the International Criminal Court (ICC), alongside genocide, war crimes, crimes against humanity and the crime of aggression. We campaign online and offline initially in Europe, and now expanding into the rest of the world. Our experts are building the case for better legal protection of Earth's ecological systems, which will ensure the protection of human rights, liberties, and justice for all Earth inhabitants. Our main challenge is building worldwide grassroots support for this complex goal with almost zero budget.

Our supporters come from all walks of life, and our successes include being heard at the EU Parliament, co-organising people's tribunals for the rights of nature and putting industrial agriculture on trial in the Hague.

We have volunteers and local campaign groups in most European Countries, and are constantly working on attracting new people.

45. EUROPEAN CITIZEN ACTION SERVICE

52. WORLD COLLEGE RADIO DAY NETWORK / LIMU RADIO, LAHTI UNIVERSITY OF APPLIED SCIENCES

WEB: www.collegeradio.org

Represented by Aria Hautaniemi

Limu Radio is the streaming college radio station of the Lahti University of Applied Sciences. Its aim is to provide a channel for issues, music, cultures and phenomena that don't get recognition in the mass media, in addition to giving the community (students from all subject areas of the university, alumni, other stakeholders) a platform and an opportunity to produce human-centred, user-driven community media contents. Limu Radio is a community media and as such an important vessel in providing especially the youth a chance to get their voices actively heard and feel included. In addition to working as a development manager at our university (with responsibilities in RDI projects and learning environment experiments and development) I work as the editor-in-chief of this otherwise student-driven media.

55. RESOME (RÉSEAU ÉTUDES SUPÉRIEURES ET ORIENTATION DES MIGRANT.E.S ET EXILÉ.E.S)

WEB: www.resome.org

Represented by Pauline Rapilly Ferniot

Resome is a network of organisations, with the goal of helping migrants* (refugees, asylum seekers, and undocumented...) to have access to higher education in France. On one hand we are helping schools and universities create french class programs for refugees by the creations of documents and by giving advice based on our exeperience in our differents schools.

On the other hand we put pressure on the gouvernement and political power to make them take their responsibilities, we also try to raise awareness among the population about the situations of exiles and refugees in France.

*we refuse discrimination based on nationality or administratives status. When we use the word refugee it's not as a administrative status recognized by the OFPRA (french institution in charge of giving (or not) the status of refugee). That's the reason why we prefer using the word "migrants", to contest this idea that there would be "good political refugees" on one side and "bad economic migrants" on the other.

70. FLÜCHTLINGSHILFE BABELSBERG

WEB: www.fluechtlingshilfe-babelsberg.de

Represented by Marilen Martin

"Flüchtlingshilfe Babelberg" is a local organisation which helps refugees to integrate into the new culture. After the attack at the christmas market in Berlin, a lot of hate spread across the internet. Refugees were blamed to bring the terrorism to Germany. That is the reason why we have to work on a better integration of the refugees, so that there is no room for prejudices. We must encourage encounters of natives and immigrants to stop the hate that comes from fear and ignorance.

HUNGARY

88. MAGYARORSZÁGÉRT MOZGALOM (MOVEMENT FOR HUNGARY)

WEB: www.budapestsentinel.com

Represented by Maria Sandor & Gabor Juhasz & Judith Girhiny

Our organisation is a civil movement for restoring democracy in Hungary. Since 2010, when the current ruling party (Fidesz) took power in democratic elections, they have started implementing the concept of illiberal democracy, which is leading to one party rule. The current government is impeding press freedom and independence of the judiciary, as well as undermining checks and balances and the rule of law. Parallel to this a state capture has occurred, where corruption and the stealing of EU funds is controlled by the government itself. Even in short term, this would ruin the whole country and endanger the future of Hungarians as a nation. Our purpose is to draw the attention of the Hungarian people to the dangers coming from the current situation.

WEB: www.facebook.com/lodzki Dziewuchy

Represented by Malgorzata Wochowska, Anna Migala, Magdalena Gałkiewicz, Agata Kobylńska, Aleksandra Knapik, Katarzyna Iwaniuk, Kamila Majer, Agnieszka Gralak

Gals for Gals Lodz (Dziewuchy Dziewuchom Lodz) have raised as a civic movement to answer to deter the Polish government's declaration of tightening of the abortion law. Since April 2016 we have organised the biggest protests in the city of Lodz since the strikes of textile workers in 1971.

We act as a part of the nationwide movement called Dziewuchy Dziewuchom that has some chapters in other EU countries and above (like in Australia, and the US). We first of all express our strong opposition towards tightening of abortion law as it would be a clear violation of human rights. Besides protests and other forms of political bottom-up engagement (as citizens), we have been offering education and awareness raising activities to women and men. We keep educating that the right to decision is the fundamental right of every woman, and it should be protected.

Represented by Vladimir Vaz & Joana Deus

Associação Renovar a Mouraria it's a private non-profit organization and has as the main objectives revitalize Mouraria neighbourhood (historical center of Lisbon) at social, cultural, turistic and economic level. 30% of Mouraria s population is foreign and there is more than 50 communities. Those are our targets. My work is make sure that this population has access to education, health and justice. As a jurist, I give free legal advice on matters such as immigration law, nationality law and international protection requests. I also give legal support to immigrants who want to start their own business. We also develop information campaigns to public workers (town hall and health Center) and technicians from other organizations. Our greatest success is that we reach the most vulnerable immigrant populations such as the homeless, prostitutes and drug users. The main challenge is the legislation itself and the lack of financial support to keep projects. Partners: Lisbon City council; Portuguese High Commissioner for Migration; Local NGO s;

145. BYLINE FESTIVAL FOR INDEPENDENT JOURNALISM

WEB: www.bylinefestival.com

Represented by Neil Erskine

News media is broken. The numbers are staggering: a 35% decrease in overall revenue in past decade; a 55% decrease in print ad revenue in past decade; 7 out of 10 top U.S. papers sold in the past year. Newsroom journalists face the constant threat of job losses, and online editors treat the freelancer as 'one who works for free'. Newspapers still depend on ads, and yet, ad revenue is going to Google and Facebook. Quality is in decline, and essential investigative work is disappearing. Democracy demands an active and independent press, not endless clickbait about Kim Kardashian's bum, 'Ten Reasons Why...' articles, and 'sponsored content' masquerading as proper journalism.

The time has come for something different.

This is why we created Byline, a one-stop crowdfunding and media outlet platform where journalists and quality bloggers reach readers directly. For journalists, Byline means control and independence, and the chance to make the regular income you deserve. Write regularly and in depth on a particular topic, and attract fans of that topic to commit to paying you either per article or per month. Or, raise a larger sum in advance, to take on a big project that requires travel or investigative work.
